DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

- [1] Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
- I. Claim 1 (and any corresponding dependents), drawn to constructing a digital video database representing a plurality of video sequences using histograms, classified in class 382 (Image Analysis), subclass 171 (Histograms – For Segmenting an Image).
 - II. Claim 21 (and any corresponding dependents), drawn to retrieving corresponding video sequences using queries, classified in class 382 (Image Analysis), subclass 170 (Histograms – With Pattern Recognition or Classification).
 - III. Claim 39 (and any corresponding dependents), drawn to extracting image descriptions for video sequences, classified in class 382 (Image Analysis), subclass 190 (Pattern Recognition – Feature Extraction).

- [2] The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombinations I has separate utility such as constructing databases using histograms for databases other than databases that are specifically “queried” according to the method of subcombination II. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombinations I has separate utility such as constructing databases using histograms for databases other than databases that are specifically “extracted” using descriptions according to the method of subcombination III. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombinations II has separate utility such as “querying” databases other than databases that are specifically “extracted” using descriptions according to the method of subcombination III. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

[3] Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

[4] In summary, the applicant has one of three options:

- (i) Election of invention I (claim 1 and any corresponding dependents)
- (ii) Election of invention II (claim 21 and any corresponding dependents)
- (iii) Election of invention III (claim 39 and any corresponding dependents)
